STANDING UP FOR SCIENCE

Media Workshop
FRIDAY 26TH June 2015 | AT THE UNIVERSITY OF WARWICK

Are you PASSIONATE about your RESEARCH?

Do you think it is important for GOOD SCIENCE and EVIDENCE to be communicated to a wider audience?

What can you do to address SCIENTIFIC MISCONCEPTIONS and MISINFORMATION?

This FREE full day event runs from 10:30am to 5pm and is open to early career researchers and scientists in all SCIENCES, ENGINEERING AND MEDICINE (PhD students, post-docs or equivalent in first job).

Science in the media: What happens when research announcements go wrong; statistics are manipulated; risk factors are distorted; or discussions become polarised? Speakers will include Dr Jeremy Pritchard, Senior Lecturer, School of Biosciences, University of Birmingham; Dr Deirdre Hollingsworth, Associate Professor, School of Life Sciences & Mathematics Institute, University of Warwick; Professor Boris Gänsicke, Department of Physics, University of Warwick.

What journalists are looking for: How do journalists approach stories and balance the need for news and entertainment with reporting science? And deal with accusations of polarising debates and misrepresenting facts? Speakers will include David Gregory-Kumar, Science and Environment Correspondent, BBC Midlands; Jane Symons, Freelance Health Journalist; Roz Pidcock, Deputy Editor & Science Editor, Carbon Brief.

Standing up for science; the nuts and bolts: This session offers practical guidance for early career researchers to get their voices heard in debates about science; how to respond to bad science when you see it; and top tips for if you come face-to-face with a journalist! Speakers will include Dr Paul Sainsbury, Corporate Communications Manager, Society for Applied Microbiology; Leah Fitzsimmons, Voice of Young Science representative and Sense About Science.

“An excellent workshop that has made a big difference to the way I view science in the media.”

“Totally changed my perspective on the media and where scientists fit into news stories.”

“Good advice. Empowering and engaging.”
