STANDING UP FOR SCIENCE

Media Workshop
FRIDAY 24th June 2016 | AT THE UNIVERSITY OF WARWICK

Are you PASSIONATE about your RESEARCH?
Do you think it is important for GOOD SCIENCE and EVIDENCE to be communicated to a wider audience?
What can you do to address SCIENTIFIC MISCONCEPTIONS and MISINFORMATION?

This FREE full day event runs from 10:30am to 5pm and is open to early career researchers and scientists in all SCIENCES, ENGINEERING AND MEDICINE (PhD students, post-docs or equivalent in first job).

Science in the media: What happens when research announcements go wrong; statistics are manipulated; risk factors are distorted; or discussions become polarised? Speakers include Franco Cappuccio, Professor of Cardiovascular Medicine and Epidemiology, University of Warwick; Dr Deirdre Hollingsworth, Associate Professor in Infectious Disease Epidemiology, University of Warwick and Andrew Easton, Professor of Virology, University of Warwick.

What journalists are looking for: How do journalists approach stories and balance the need for news and entertainment with reporting science? And deal with accusations of polarising debates and misrepresenting facts?
Speakers include David Derbyshire, Freelance Journalist; David Gregory-Kumar, Science and Environment Correspondent, BBC Midlands and Anna Mckie, Reporter, Research Fortnight.

Standing up for science; the nuts and bolts: This session offers practical guidance for early career researchers to get their voices heard in debates about science; how to respond to bad science when you see it; and top tips for if you come face-to-face with a journalist!
Speakers include Tom Frew, Senior Press and Communications Manager, University of Warwick; Leah Fitzsimmons, VoYS representative and Chris Peters, Scientific Affairs Manager, Sense about Science.

“An excellent workshop that has made a big difference to the way I view science in the media.”
“Totally changed my perspective on the media and where scientists fit into news stories.”
“Good advice. Empowering and engaging.”
